ed to have struck an easy grade. There was a tone of injury and aggression in his talk of the bear's ingratitude. He smiled over his whittling as we laughed heartily at the droll effect of it all.

"D'ye ever hear o' the wild man 'at roams round 'n these woods?" he asked. "Never did," said Uncle Eb. "I've seen 'im more times 'n ye could shake a stick at," said Ab, crossing his legs comfortably and spitting into the fire. "Kind o' think he's the same man folks tells us down 'n Paradise valley there—'at goes round 'n the clearin' after bedtime."

"The night man?" I exclaimed. "Guess that's what they call 'im," said Ab. "Curse man! Sometimes I've had a good squint at 'im off 'n the woods. He's wilder 'n a deer, an' I've seen 'im jump over logs half as high as a twig. Tried 'foller 'im once or twice, but tain't no use. He's quicker 'n a will cat."

"What kind o' a lookin' man is he?" Tip Taylor asked.

"Great, big, broad shouldered feller," said Ab. "Six foot tall if he's an inch. Hed a kind o' a deer skin jacket on when I seen 'im an' breeches an' moccasins made o' some kind o' hide. I recollec' one day I was over on the ridge two mile or more from the Stillwater, goin' south. I seen 'im gittin' a drink at the spring there in the burnt timber. An' if I ain't mistaken there was a real live panther playin' round 'im. If 'twan't a panther 'twas pesky nigh it. I can tell ye. The critter see me fast and drew up 'is back. Then the man got up quicker 'n a flash. Soon 's he see me, Jeemimey, didn't they move! Never see no human critter run as he did! A big tree hed fell 'cross a lot o' brush right 'n his path. I'll be dog dunned if 'twan't higher 'n my head! But he cleared it jest as easy as a grasshopper 'd go over a straw. I'd like t' know where he comes from, dog dunned if I wouldn't. He's the conrarest queerest animal 'n these woods."

Ab emphasized this lucid view of the night man by an animated movement of his fist that held the big hunting knife with which he whittled. Then he emptied his pipe and began cutting more tobacco.

"Some says 'e 's a ghost," said Tip Taylor, splitting his sentence with a yawn, as he lay on a buffalo robe in the shanty.

"Shucks an' shoestrings!" said Ab. "He looks too nat'ral. Don't believe no ghost ever wore whiskers an' long hair like his'n. The don't hol' t' reason."

This remark was followed by dead silence. Tip seemed to lack both courage and information with which to prolong the argument.

Gerald had long been asleep, and we were all worn out with uphill traveling and the lack of rest. Uncle Eb went out to look after the horses that were tethered near us. Ab rose, looked up through the tree tops, ventured a guess about the weather and strode off into the darkness.

We were five days in camp, hunting, fishing, fighting flies and picking blueberries. Gerald's cough had not improved at all; it was, if anything, a bit worse than it had been, and the worry of that had clouded our holiday. We were not in high spirit when finally we decided to break camp the next afternoon.

Tip had everything ready for our journey home. Each day Gerald had grown paler and thinner. As we wrapped him in a shawl and tenderly helped him into the wagon I read his doom in his face. We saw so much of that kind of thing in our stern climate we knew what it meant. Our fun was over. We sat in silence, speeding down the long hills in the fading light of the afternoon. Those few solemn hours in which I heard only the wagon's rumble and the sweet calls of the whippoorwill—waves of music on a sea of silence—started me in a way of thought which had led me high and low these many years and still invites me. The day was near its end when we got to the first big clearing. From the top of a high hill we could see above the far forest the red rim of the setting sun, big with winding from the skein of day, that was now flying off the tree tops in the west.

We stopped to feed the horses and to take a bite of jerked venison, wrapped ourselves warmer, for it was now dusk and chilly, and went on again. The road went mostly downhill going out of the woods and we could make good time. It was near midnight when we drove in at our gate. There was a light in the sitting room, and Uncle Eb and I went in with Gerald at once. Elizabeth Brower knelt at the feet of her son, unbuttoned his coat and took off his muffer. Then she put her arms about his neck, while neither spoke nor uttered any sound. Both mother and son felt and understood and were silent. The ancient law of God that rends asunder and makes have of our plans bore heavy on them in that moment. I have no doubt, but neither murmured. Uncle Eb began to pump vigorously at the cistern, while David fussed with the fire. We were all quaking inwardly, but neither betrayed a sign of it. It is a way the Puritan has of suffering. His emotions are like the deep undercurrents of the sea.

"Three or four 'n a summer mebbe," he said at length.

"Ever git sassy?" Uncle Eb asked.

He whipped a coal out of the ashes then and lifted it in his fingers to the bowl of his pipe.

"Never real sassy," he said between vigorous puffs. "One stole a ham off my pyrazz last summer. Al Fifield brought 't in fer me one day—smelt good too! I kep' savin' uv it, thinkin' I'd enjoy it all the more when I did hev it. One day I went off cuttin' timber an' stayed till mos' night. Comin' home I got 't thinkin' o' thet ham, an' made up my mind I'd hev some fer supper. The more I thought uv it the faster I hurried, an' when I got hum I was hungrier 'n I'd been fer a year. When I see the o'f bear's tracks an' the empty peg where the ham had hung I went t' work an' got mad. Then I started after thet bear. Track ed 'im over pender uv Cat mount'n."

Here Ab paused. He had a way of stopping always at the most interesting point to puff at his pipe. It looked as if he were getting up steam for another sentence, and these days his was the effect of "continued in our next."

"Kill 'im!" Uncle Eb asked.

"Licked him," he said.

"Hu!" we remarked incredulously.

"Licked 'im," he repeated, chuckling.

"Went into his cave with a sled stake an' whaled 'im—whaled 'im till he ran fer his life."

Whether it was true or not I have never been sure even to this day, but Ab's manner was at once modest and convincing.

"Should 'a thought he'd 'a rasked with ye," Uncle Eb remarked.

"Didn't give 'im time," said Ab as he took out his knife and began slowly to sharpen a stick.

"Don't never wan't t' raskle with no bear," he added, "but hams is too scarce here 'n the woods t' hev 'em tuk away 'fore ye know the taste uv 'em. I ain't never been hard on bears. Don't seldom ever set no traps, an' I ain't shot a bear fer more'n ten year. But they've got t' be decent. If any bear steals my vittles he's goin' t' git cuffed hard."

Ab's tongue had limbered up at last. His nine was well a-going, and he seem-

A GREAT OVATION

President Roosevelt Receives Tremendous Reception in Southwest.

THE GUEST OF TEXAS

On the Way to San Antonio Crowds Turn Out Everywhere to A-see Him of the State's Welcome.

Makes the People of Indian Territory Glad by Promises of Statehood.

Dallas, Tex., April 6.—President Roosevelt is today the guest of the Lone Star state. The special train bearing the president and his party arrived in Dallas over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad promptly at 6:20 o'clock last night. Reception committees were in attendance when the train rolled into the depot and the chief executive was driven through the streets to a public stand near the Oriental hotel where he delivered an address. The streets were densely packed with citizens and visitors and the reception accorded the president was nothing short of a continuous ovation. After delivering his speech the president and his party attended a dinner at the Oriental hotel tendered by the citizens of Dallas. His train left for Waco, Austin and San Antonio at 5:40 o'clock this morning.

The president's train yesterday traversed the plains of Kansas and Indian Territory. At every station large and enthusiastic crowds were in attendance, all bent on seeing, and, if possible, hearing the chief executive. At Vinita a short stop was made and the president briefly addressed a large crowd. When Muskogee was reached 10,000 people surrounded the railroad station. A stand, draped in the national colors, had been erected nearby and although the program did not call for a speech here the president yielded to the loud acclaim of the people and, escorted by a committee which boarded his train made a brief address. His subject was "Statehood," and enthusiastic applause greeted his utterance that the Indian Territory would add its star to the galaxy of states within a year.

Brief speeches were also made at South McAlester, Atoka, Caddo and Durant, after which the train crossed the state line into Texas.

Denison was reached at 2:35 o'clock. Preparatory to the arrival of the train the yards had been cleared of all cars and all work was suspended. An immense crowd had gathered to greet the president who was standing on the rear platform smiling and bowing his acknowledgement to the cheers which greeted him as soon as the train stopped. A party of school children advanced to the platform and presented the president with a magnificent floral offering in the shape of a Texas flag. When the train pulled out for Sherman the president, standing on the platform, waved his hand and smiled in response to the repeated cheers.

At Sherman one of the largest crowds of the day greeted the president. He was escorted to a stand where he spoke for fifteen minutes. Cannon boomed and the city was in gala attire in honor of the visitors.

From Sherman the train maintained its schedule to Dallas. The president was in splendid spirits after the long day's ride and shortly before reaching Dallas said, in answer to a question, that he never felt better in his life.

Fatal Duel Over Politics.

Berlin, April 6.—Emil Zippelitz, a wealthy planter of German Southwest Africa, who was a delegate appointed to arrange with the government for compensation to German settlers as the result of damages sustained on account of the native insurrection, was killed in a duel by Franz Von Coblenz, an official of the Borsig machinery works. The duel took place in Tegel forest, a few miles from Berlin. Zippelitz fell at the first discharge with a bullet through his stomach. The men, it is said, quarreled over politics.

Disorders Continue.

St. Petersburg, April 6.—Official advice report continued disorders in the Caucasus. Within the past week peasants have looted and burned public offices in many villages in the Gore district, sacked schools and private estates, cutting down trees and threatening to kill the police officials if they interfered and forced priests to go with them and take an oath of solidarity with their cause. Similar but less serious disorders are reported to have taken place in the Tiflis district.

Disappointed the Posse.

Paducah, Ky., April 6.—Henry Hutchinson, colored, who shot Officer Hatcher at Fulton, Ky., last Monday, committed suicide yesterday by firing two bullets into his head at Gilbertsville, Ky., twenty miles above here, while a posse was in pursuit.

No Solution in Sight.

Vienna, April 6.—Emperor Francis Joseph has returned from Budapest. All his efforts to secure a solution of the Hungarian cabinet crisis have been fruitless and today the situation is practically the same as it was two months ago.

Killed by a Harrow.

Princeton, Ind., April 6.—John White, a well-known farmer near this city, fell and was killed while carrying a harrow, the teeth penetrating his brain and lungs.

BEEF TRUST INQUIRY

Promises to Be Thorough Along All Lines.

Chicago, April 6.—Prices paid for livestock by the packers, alleged rebates granted the packers by railroads for the handling of the same, and the private accounts of some of the packing concerns are to be closely inquired into within the next few days by the federal grand jury. Another phase of the question of the alleged combination of some of the packers in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and Judge Grosscup's injunction, which is to be inquired into, is the price paid by wholesale dealers to the packers for meats. Witnesses who can give the jurors detailed and accurate information along these lines have been subpoenaed. Some of these witnesses have testified, and although they refused to make public what they told the jury, it is said a large amount of data valuable to the government was secured from them.

James A. Barrett, a wholesale meat dealer at Merrill, Wis., was one of the witnesses who testified. He is said to have explained to the jurors the alleged hardships placed on the small meat dealer by the packing concerns. He explained in detail the prices paid the packers by the wholesaler. Mr. Barrett was followed by Samuel Grobneheimer, a cattle buyer for Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, who is said to have testified concerning the price paid for livestock by the packers. Patrick Cassidy, traffic manager for the National Packing company, testified concerning the cost of shipping cattle to the cattle raiser and the arrangements the packers have with the railroads for handling livestock and dressed meats.

FREIGHT RATES

The Subject of Exhaustive Inquiry by State of Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., April 6.—At a meeting of the state railroad and warehouse commission held here yesterday to consider a reduction of freight rates in the state, it was decided to make the scope of the inquiry unlimited. At the meeting of the commission about three weeks ago it was ordered that the case be re-opened, but the scope of the inquiry was not determined. At that time the representatives of the railroads against which no specific complaint had been filed made a strong plea for the exemption of their territory from investigation. Yesterday the representatives of these roads entered no objections to a general inquiry and it was so ordered.

Death of Grant's Sister.

Orange, N. J., April 6.—Mrs. Mary Grant Cramer, sister of the late President U. S. Grant and widow of Dr. Michael J. Cramer, was found dead in bed at the home of her sister, Mrs. Virginia Grant Corbin, in East Orange. Mrs. Cramer retired in good health, apparently. She was married to Dr. Cramer in 1863, when he was pastor of the Pearl Street church, Cincinnati.

Later Reports on Earthquake.

Calcutta, April 6.—Later accounts from various cities tell a tale of severe damage to property arising from the earthquakes of the morning of April 4, but it is impossible as yet to estimate the extent of the loss of life, although it is known to be considerable.

The Coroner's Verdict.

Ziegler, Ill., April 6.—Afterdamp, due to an explosion of blasting powder set off by persons as yet unknown, caused the death of forty-three miners at Joseph Letter's coal mine on Monday, April 3, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury.

Baby Boy Burns to Death.

Bloomington, Ill., April 6.—The four-year-old son of Frank Maupin was burned to death in a fire which destroyed a carpenter shop at Atlanta. The father was fatally burned trying to rescue his son from the flames.

VIEWS OF KAISER

On the Moroccan Question Have Been Tersely Expressed to Uncle Sam.

OPEN DOOR MAINTAINED

This, Briefly, is the Design of Germany in Morocco and is Declared in no Uncertain Terms.

Sensational Reports Concerning Emperor William's Attitude Are Definitely Set at Rest.

Washington, April 6.—Germany has outlined to the United States in clear and emphatic terms the position claimed by the Berlin government in Morocco. Upon the receipt of instructions from Berlin, Baron Von Speck Sternburg, the German ambassador, called at the war department upon Secretary Taft, whom the president before leaving Washington designated as the cabinet officer with whom the ambassadors should confer, and in the name of the German emperor, left with Secretary Taft a brief memorandum setting forth the Moroccan policy which Germany has all along pursued and from which she does not propose to be swayed. In substance the memorandum, which is couched in the most explicit language, announces that:

Germany stands for the "open door" in Morocco no less firmly than in the far east, for the preservation of the Moroccan status quo and for the safeguarding and protection of the commercial and trade interests in Morocco not only of Germany but of all the trading nations of the world.

After presenting the memorandum the secretary and the ambassador had a brief conversation on the subject of Morocco, Baron Sternburg calling attention to the commercial importance of that country to the trading nations, and emphasizing the international importance, in Germany's opinion, of the preservation there of the "open door."

Regarding the emperor's visit to Tangier, although it was in the line of his cruise in the Mediterranean, the object of his address was, it can be stated on high authority, to impress the Moroccans with the seriousness of Germany's desire that the status quo should be maintained and that the principle of the "open door," laid down by Secretary Hay with reference to China, should be strictly adhered to in Morocco.

In diplomatic circles the significance of Germany's frank avowal at Washington of her views about Morocco is not underestimated. Germany makes no mention of France in the memorandum, nor does she request an expression of views by the United States. This information has been conveyed to the United States because of the sensational reports abroad about Germany's attitude.

A BREATHING SPELL

Has Been Given by Court of Appeals to Mrs. Chadwick.

Cincinnati, O., April 6.—A stay of execution of sentence in the case of Mrs. Chadwick has been authorized by the United States circuit court of appeals. The stay of sentence is to hold until the further order of the court, it appearing that a writ of error had been sued out within the required sixty days and a copy of the same had been lodged in the clerk's office of the lower court. After the decision of the court had been announced, Judge Francis J. Wing, counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, said that he expected to be able to present the appeal some time during the month of May.

THAT EQUITABLE FIGHT

War to the Knife Between Factions in Big Insurance Company.

New York, April 6.—The course which the Hyde forces will pursue in the special meeting of the Equitable Life Assurance society's directors was forecasted in a statement given out by one of Mr. Hyde's friends. While the statement bears no signature, it originates in the same source from which others giving Mr. Hyde's attitude, have come, and is regarded as authentic.

The statement asserts that Mr. Alexander will be called upon to explain to the directors why he sent a letter requesting the commissioner of insurance to make an examination of the society without having informed the executive committee and that he will also be called upon to explain "His conduct in assailing the personal integrity of his associate, James Hyde, the vice president, Jacob H. Schiff and E. H. Harriman, directors of the society, and causing the publication of matter derogatory to them."

Continuing, the statement says: "Both Mr. Alexander and Mr. Tarbell will be called upon to explain the sale of the renewal account for the sum of $135,000 on the day that the memorable petition, asking for the removal of Mr. Hyde, was presented to the board of directors."

"Mr. Alexander will be charged with having retained Frank H. Platt to organize what is so commonly known as the Crimmins policy holders' protective committee, for the express purpose of assailing the board of directors and maligning James Hazen Hyde, the vice president, and also impairing public confidence in the management of the society."

"Mr. Alexander will also be charged with having instigated the suit known as the Brackett-Mary Young suit, and the action taken by Senator Brackett in the office of the attorney general and also in the legislature—acts which are detrimental to the good name of the society."

Spain Suffers From Drouth.

Madrid, April 6.—Owing to an extreme drouth all field work in Andalusia has been suspended for a considerable time and crops are threatened with total destruction. The cost of necessities of life has risen to exorbitant figures, and unless there is rain soon to enable agriculturists to resume their labors serious consequences are likely to ensue, especially as the drouth, which at first was confined to Andalusia, is beginning to spread to Valencia, Aragon and other provinces.

Smith Case Continued.

Cincinnati, O., April 6.—The habeas corpus hearing of J. Morgan Smith and wife arrested here last week and held under a New York indictment for conspiracy with Nan Patterson to extort money from "Caesar" Young, the bookmaker, has been adjourned until next Monday afternoon.

Jolly Jack Tar.

"Jolly" is the word generally associated with the jack tar. He is the picture of health, and the health bubbles over in mirth and merriment. When people are sick, especially when sickness attacks the lungs the doctor often advises a sea voyage. But in the large majority of cases the sea voyage is impossible.

It is to the men and women of the workaday world to whom sea voyages or change of climate are impossible, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as the greatest earthly boon. The effect of this medicine upon those whose lungs are "weak" is remarkable. Even where there is bronchitis, spitting of blood, emaciation, weakness, conditions which if unchecked or unskillfully treated lead to consumption. "Golden Medical Discovery" in ninety-eight cases out of a hundred works a perfect and permanent cure. It strengthens the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the body in all its parts is not merely fed but nourished. And it is by nourishment that Nature builds up the body to resist or throw off disease.

"I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., of Cameron, Scriven Co., Ga. "I chanced to see an advertisement of your, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I had taken half a bottle I was entirely well."
